NOT QUITE SURE HE WAS IGNORED

Lieutenant Governor Hall is Not Certain he Was Snubbed at the Editorial Banquet.

WAS NOT INVITED TO SPEAK

Yet Other Candidates For Governor or Their Representatives Talked—"Cooked His Goose."

Frank J. Hall, lieutenant governor of Indiana, is not quite sure that he was snubbed at the Indiana Democratic Editorial Association annual banquet in Indianapolis last week. He says he was invited, as were a number of other guests outside the list of editors, but—here's where the moot-point is—he was not invited to speak. Others, who were invited to speak, spoke, however.

The lieutenant governor said today that he never thought of it exactly in the light that he had been ignored although the action of the toastmaster in not calling on him to talk might be considered in that way. He admitted that Samuel Ralston of Lebanon, who is one of the candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor, spoke, as did a representative of John W. Boehne of Evansville, Ralston's avowed opponent.

Mr. Hall has said that he would accept the nomination at the hands of the Democratic party in Indiana if he could get it, but he will not make any great bustle for it because he believes it beneath the dignity of any man who is capable of holding down the highest elective position in the State.

"I have not felt any umbrage," said the lieutenant governor today, "about the incident. I suppose some of my friends up there (meaning Indianapolis) are responsible for the story in the Indianapolis News last night. Some of them came to me after the banquet and asked me why I didn't speak and suggested then that I had been slighted. But I told them I had not been invited to speak.

"When the toastmaster read off the list of speakers, there were only two, Governor Marshall and Charles A. Greathouse, superintendent of public instruction. They both had long prepared speeches and I felt when they finished it was time to adjourn then. But they didn't. They called on a few other fellows to talk. Taggart, I believe, and Veneman, and Ralston. Veneman was supposed to represent Boehne but he was pretty shrewd about it. He said he came with no statement from the congressman. It was midnight then and high time to put an end to the meeting."

Bernard Korbly, Democratic State chairman, spoke also. The two avowed candidates for the nomination either spoke or their representatives were asked to talk in their stead. Lieutenant Governor Hall is a candidate for the same place and was at the speakers' table at the request of the management of the banquet, yet he was not asked to speak. But Mr. Hall does not smart under what seems to be a distinct rebuke, and he doesn't feel like any one else should.

It is rumored in State Democratic circles that the action of the lieutenant governor in jumping into the race for governorship hurt his political standing materially in the opinion of the big boss, namely Tom Taggart. It is understood that the nomination, without any opposition, as lieutenant governor, would have been handed to Mr. Hall, all done up in ribbon, if he had not taken the step that he has. Mr. Hall has other ideas about this however, and believes he has a chance in the race for the gubernatorial nomination. He says that he is assured the solid support of every county in the Sixth district in the convention.

BANKRUPTCY CASE TO BE HEARD HERE

M. H. Fielding, Former Merchant of Glenwood Files Voluntary Petition and Hearing is Let.

BUSINESS REVERSES, CAUSE

M. H. Fielding of Glenwood, filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy a short time ago, and a hearing of the matter will be had before referee Harry C. Sheridan of Frankfort, Indiana, in the law office of Smith, Cambern & Smith, in Rushville, February 16, says the Connersville News. Raymond Springer and Allen Wiles will represent the creditors of whom there are many.

Mr. Fielding formerly conducted a store in Glenwood, and some time ago he traded his interest there for a tract of land in Wayne county. Business reverses have accumulated upon him and it is rumored that practically all he has is involved. It is the hope of all his friends that, with the aid of legal advice and supervision, his tangled affairs can be brought back into some shape.

Several from this city will attend a dance Saturday night in New Palestine given by the Athenian club of that place.

ERN THOMAS MAY NOT ACCEPT JOB

Local Man Urged For Several Days to Become Secretary of Republican State Committee.

SAYS IT WOULD BE SACRIFICE

Position Still Held Open in Hope he Will Accept Eventually—Friends Urge It.

Although his friends are urging him to accept the position, it is not likely that Ernest B. Thomas of the Peoples Loan and Trust Company will be secretary of the State Republican committee. His name has been mentioned for that place for more than a week and he could have the job now if he would only answer the question in the affirmative.

Mr. Thomas received innumerable telephone calls in the last few days from friends over the State urging him to accept the position. Mr. Thomas said today that he did not think he would act as secretary as he does not feel that he should sacrifice his present position for one which would be as temporary as that of secretary of the State committee.

After Fred A. Sims was elected chairman of the committee the talk was current that the next thing to do would be to draft "Ern" Thomas of Rushville. He had been consulted previously to the organization of the State committee and had steadfastly refused to accept the place. After his stand became known the general belief among Republicans at the head of the party in Indiana was that he should be drafted.

Only last night Mr. Thomas was called by long distance telephone by a prominent State Republican. It was rumored that Mr. Thomas had undergone a change of opinion and was ready to take the place. The State committee left it in the power of Chairman Sims to name his own secretary. He is still holding the place open in the hope that Mr. Thomas will accept eventually.

Mr. Thomas has been active in Republican politics in the State and county for many years. He was auditor of Rush county some few years ago and played an important part in the campaign James E. Watson made for the nomination and election to the governorship of Indiana. Mr. Thomas is well and favorably known by Republicans all over Indiana and it is still hoped by his friends here as well as in other parts of the State that he will in a few days decide to take the position which will be conferred upon him merely for the asking.

TO PETITION FOR ELECTION

Walker Township Residents Plan to Ask For New Highway.

Residents of Walker township are arranging for an election for an improved highway in that township. The road which it is planned to have rebuilt is a very complicated affair. Most of the pikes in Walker township are in excellent condition and it is understood that the one for which improvement will be asked is a series of cross roads which connect the jumbled pikes. There are more "angles" and "jogs" in Walker township roads than in those of any township in the county. It is understood almost enough names have been obtained to hold an election.

Generally fair tonight and Wednesday. Slightly warmer in east and central portion tonight.

TWO BOARDS IN JOINT SESSION

Hancock and Rush County Commissioners Let Contracts For Two Bridges Today.

NEWCASTLE FIRM GETS BOTH

Continuance is Granted to Four Road Petitioners—That County Sealer Again.

The Burke Construction Company of New Castle got both bridge contracts at the joint meeting of the Hancock and Rush counties boards of commissioners in the court house this afternoon. The contract price for each of the bridges was $2,350, making the total $4,700.

The two boards convened about two o'clock and by three all of the business had been transacted and the visiting board left for Greenfield. The contracts were for building the Levi Gurley and the Jabin D. White bridges on the Rush-Hancock county line. The contractor agrees to complete the two bridges by June 1.

The appropriation for the two bridges was $5,500, or $800 more than the contract price. This is due to the fact that it was expected to make the bridges double arch and it was later decided to make them single arch.

Late this afternoon the commissioners let the contract for a new case in the county treasurer's office to the Art Metal Construction Company of Chicago for $224.75. There was only one other bidder. It was necessary to purchase this new case for tax duplicates as the new forms prepared by the State Board of Accounts are larger than the old ones.

The county commissioners were in session this morning and granted a continuance on four road petitions as follows: The James Forbes road in Ripley township, the Frank Moor et al road in Richland township, the Enoch Spurgeon et al road in Anderson township and the Ezekiel Priest et al road in Rushville township. The report on the John D. Fleener road was accepted and approved but was held until further orders are made concerning the advertising.

The weights and measures law passed by the last session of the Indiana legislature went into effect the first of the year, but up to this time Rush county has done nothing toward putting it into operation. Furthermore, if the county commissioners adhere to their present view as regards the act, Rush county will do nothing toward putting it into operation.

The commissioners are really non-committal in regard to the law. They hoot at the idea of the county auditor acting in the capacity prescribed by the new law, just as if he does not have enough duties at present. The commissioners have never discussed the appointment of such an official and are not likely to.

The law is so worded as to leave it optional with a county as to whether or not a sealer of weights and measures shall be appointed. The county commissioners decide the question. The Rush county commissioners have made no formal entry to that effect. They feel it would be a needless expense. There is no demand for it from the county as a whole.

It so happens that the county can have a sealer of weights and measures, if it wants one, without resorting to the act of 1911. There is on the statute books and still in force—though it has always been a dead letter in Rush county—a law which was enacted in 1852, which requires the board of county commissioners to procure a set of weights and measures and a seal for the same and leave them with the county auditor, who, upon demand, is required to make inspection of weights and measures and, if he finds them correct, seal them.

The attention of the Rush county commissioners has been directed to this old act by H. E. Barnard, State commissioner of weights and measures. He advises the creation of the office of sealer of weights and measures in each county, but points out that the law of 1852 can be used if the commissioners so desire. He says the act of 1852 if enforced, would result in a heavy demand upon the time of the county auditor and that for this reason it is better to have the work in the hands of an officer especially appointed and equipped for it.

DAN WILLIAMS IS SENT TO PRISON

Greenfield Man Goes up For Term of 1 to 14 Years For Knightstown Robbery.

CONTENDS HE IS INNOCENT

The February term of the Hancock circuit court convened Monday morning and one of the first cases taken up was that of the State vs. Daniel M. Williams, who was found guilty a few days ago of grand larceny by the court, says the Greenfield Reporter. He was brought before the court on Monday morning for sentence.

When asked if he had anything to say he said he was innocent of the crime; that he was not at Knightstown on the night the burglary was committed and had nothing to do with it. The court asked him why he had not gone on the witness stand in his own behalf, and he said he thought it would be no use, as there were two against one. The court sentenced Williams to the reformatory at Jeffersonville for a term of one to fourteen years. He said he had been petitioned, or asked to suspend the sentence, but that he did not think he should do so with so many charges pending.

The origin of "rag-time" is traced directly to the American negroes, yet the rhythmic peculiarities of "rag-time" are also characteristic of Indian music.

FEBRUARY IS A SHORT MONTH BUT TWENTY-NINE DAYS HOLD MUCH

Among Other Notable Holidays Are the Birthdays of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

DICKENS' ANNIVERSARY ALSO

There are other notable things about the month of February besides that it contains groundhog day, for it also brings to us Lincoln's birthday on the 12th, St. Valentine's day on the 14th, and Washington's birthday on the 22d. And yet when at its best, only once in four years does February have as many as twenty-nine days.

In other years she has but twenty-eight, being two or three days behind her no more deserving sisters. That February is thus bereaved of her children is primarily the fault of that very ancient Roman, Numa Pompilius, who arranged his calendar that she should have only twenty-nine days excepting in leap years, when an additional day was not to be added at

BOARD TO MEET WITH OPPOSITION

Said That Parents of High School Fraternity Members Will Fight School Authorities.

RUMORED ACTION WILL COME

Board Member Denies Step Leading Toward War on "Frats" Will be Taken Tonight.

It was rumored about the city today that the city school board would at its regular meeting tonight take action in regard to the high school fraternities in the high school. A member of the school board said today that the board had not contemplated taking any such a step although the existence of fraternities in the local high school in open violation to the State statute had been discussed by the board at many meetings during the last year or eighteen months.

It is understood that if the school board does not take such a step and rule that any high school student who does not withdraw his or her allegiance to the fraternity shall be summarily expelled, the board will meet with opposition. It is said that a small meeting of parents of high school pupils who are members of fraternities was held yesterday afternoon and plans devised for resisting the action of the board, in case it was taken as it was rumored to day it would be.

One member of the board said today that he was ready to take the step and had been for some time but that he could not speak for the other members of the board. The matter has been discussed at board meetings ever since the law has been in force, but that body deferred any action in the hope that the fraternities would die out.

In many Indiana cities recently the law has been enforced and an effort made to stamp out the high school fraternities. It is said that some local fraternity members have been expecting such a move here and have been resigned and ready to forswear their allegiance to their organization.

DON'T MISTAKE HIM FOR A COP AS IT IS ONLY "BILL" MOFFETT

Second Assistant Fire Chief Will Blossom Out in a Brand New Blue Uniform.

CITY TO HAVE "REAL" FIREMAN

Listen! If you should see a man coming down the street dressed in a new blue uniform with brass buttons, don't rush up and say "Officer arrest that man" or don't ask him to forward your laundry to a foreign seaport, for you will be making the mistake of your life. He is not an officer, but William Moffett, second assistant chief of the Rushville fire department.

"Bill" has decided that the fire department needs elevating and has ordered a uniform. His order is in the hands of a tailor and Rushville will soon have a real-for-sure fireman. Mr. Moffett plans to blossom out as soon as the uniform is finished and will not wait until Easter Sunday. The second assistant chief's new regulation uniform will resemble that of a police officer, blue in color with the buttons done in brass. Do you get me, Steve?

The fireman-plumber is of the opinion that all well regulated fire departments should be in uniform and thus the change of costume for "Bill." In all the years the fire department has been in existence there has never been a uniform worn, except overalls, and since Mr. Moffett plans to break the ice it is expected others will follow his example. Can you picture Joe Pugh or Stewart Beale on dress parade?

OSLER RIGHT; YOUTH SUCCEEDS AGE

Gray Hair Is First Sign of Age. Harmless Remedy Restores to Natural Color.

Osler isn't the only man who turns down old age. In the business world the "young man" is always the one who picks the plums. It is an age of "new thought," "new talent," etc., and the old man is passed by in the race.

One of the first signs of coming age is the appearance of gray hairs. When you see them, act promptly. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy will correct this sign, which so often deceives people into thinking that age is really upon them. It is a well-known fact that Sage and Sulphur will darken the hair. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur combines these old-time remedies with other agents, which remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize the druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

Don't look old before your time. Get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur today, and see what an improvement it will make in the appearance of your hair.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agents, Hargrove and Mullin.

TO KEEP EGGS DOWN DO NOT BUY THEM

Local Dealers Say no Relief is Due From Famine Until Spring Supply Comes on.

LIMIT ON TIME OF STORAGE

"Eggs pretty high again?" ventured the customer, who was not going to buy any.

"Yes," answered the grocer, "38 cents a dozen all right. Guess the only way to get the price down so we can eat 'em is not to eat 'em until we get the price down." Grocers say that is the rule they themselves are following, and most of their customers are apparently doing the same.

A law of the State prohibits eggs being kept in storage more than nine months. As eggs were put in storage in April, the time limit is up this evening. Local dealers say, however that the supply of storage eggs was exhausted a week ago, and that egg users must now depend altogether on fresh laid supplies. No relief from high prices is expected until the supply increases with the coming of the spring months.

LOOKED DAZED AND UNDECIDED

When Anti-Third Term Resolution Came Up.

QUITE A FLURRY IN THE HOUSE

Democrats Narrowly Escaped a Republican Ambush by Scurrying to Cover, but the Republicans Now Admit Regret That They Followed Majority by Voting to Shelve Resolution Directed Against Colonel's Ambition.

Washington, Feb. 6.—In connection with the Slayden anti-third term resolution introduced last week the Democrats of the house narrowly escaped a Republican ambush. The minority, at the instigation of Leader Mann, had it all framed up to permit the resolution to come before the house and then vote present on its passage, letting the Democrats put it through on their own responsibility, and thus demonstrating to the country their fear of the colonel as a presidential contender.

But at the very last moment the Democrats learned of this neat little plan and scurried to cover, most of them voting against bringing the resolution up at all. All but four Republicans voted the same way, and are now sorry they did, for they believe they missed a fine opportunity of putting the Democracy in a hole. Representatives McCall of Massachusetts, Higgins of Connecticut, Bingham of Pennsylvania, and Uncle Joe Cannon are the four Republicans who wanted the resolution acted on and who would have voted to pass it. Mr. Cannon looked particularly disappointed after Slayden's resolution had been shoved aside. He never has been an admirer of Roosevelt, and remarked to his friends that he looked forward with enthusiasm to the prospect of handing the ex-president a jolt.

Hardly a dozen members of the house knew until a few minutes before Mr. Slayden sprang his resolution that he had any idea of calling it up. When he did present it there was some mighty quick thinking and Republican, Democratic and insurgent conferences were immediately in progress on the floor and in the cloakrooms. No two members seemed to have the same idea as to the effect of any given action by the house on the resolution, but it was soon learned that Representative McCall had started all the trouble. He had an anti-third term speech in his pocket, and he had arranged all by himself for Mr. Slayden to call up the resolution and for Speaker Clark to recognize him for the purpose of delivering it. Both performed according to schedule and threw both sides into disorder.

While the Democratic leaders seemed in doubt as to what they should do, Representative Sims of Tennessee went into action. No one had a chance to speak on the plan, but while a quorum was gathering, he rushed around the floor waving the resolution and demanding to know if the Democratic party seriously intended to give Mr. Roosevelt the grandest boost he ever had.

"Pass this thing," he cried, "and the people of the country will say we are afraid of Roosevelt and fear we cannot elect our man if he runs."

"Well, ain't that about right?" inquired a voice from the rear of the house.

"Maybe it is," retorted Mr. Sims, sotto voce, "but why tell everybody about it?"

The Tennessee member, who got all "het up" over his effort to interview the entire majority membership in ten minutes, made a lot of converts and when a vote was taken to determine whether it should be considered, only seventy-four Democrats marched between the tellers. The four Republicans mentioned went through with them. Ninety-one Democrats and Republicans mixed voted against taking up the resolution. Half of the membership present did not vote at all, and a good many looked dazed and undecided.

NARROW ESCAPE

Eight Men in a Freight Caboose Had a Mighty Close Call.

Newport, Ind., Feb. 6.—Eight men, riding in the caboose of a Clover Leaf freight train, had a narrow escape when twenty cars of the train plunged into the Wabash river, two miles east of Cayuga, taking one span of the bridge, 170 feet long, with it.

The engine and a few cars had passed over the span when it gave way. The cars broke loose back of the engine and it passed over in safety. The caboose, carrying eight railroad men, tipped up and would have taken the plunge, but the coupling gave way and it remained on the track.

Spain Starting a New Navy. Ferrol, Spain, Feb. 6.—Yesterday was a great day for this city. The battleship Espana was launched in the presence of King Alfonso and Queen Victoria, and also a great throng of dignitaries. Great interest was manifested in the launching, as this marks the first stage in the reconstruction of the Spanish navy, and the whole affair took on the appearance of a great carnival.

W. B. MCKINLEY

Re-Elected Chairman of Republican Congressional Campaign Committee

Washington, Feb. 6.—The Republicans of congress in caucus last night enjoyed their first love feast of the season. It was not on the cards that the caucus should do more than ratify the selections of the various state delegations of their representative on the congressional campaign committee, but the insurgents sprang a real surprise on the regulars and moved the re-election by acclamation of Representative W. B. McKinley of Illinois as committee chairman. The motion went through in a jiffy. The committee will organize the latter part of this month.

PULPIT TRANSMITTER IS PUT TO A NEW USE

North Carolina Prisoners Found the Walls Had Ears.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 6.—As a means of convicting a negro of murder, one of the transmitters used at the Atlanta Baptist tabernacle to carry sermons to the ears of the sick at the Tabernacle hospital, has been put to a new use.

The transmitter was borrowed from the church and sent to Gastonia, N. C. There it was put in the cell of three negroes, Will, John and Hack Ross, who were charged with murder.

Not knowing that an ear was strained for every word they spoke, the three discussed the crime and the transmitter took to officers the story that John Ross was the murderer. But for the use of the transmitter all three negroes would have been hanged.

CHINESE BATTLES

Two Brisk Engagements Won by the Republican Forces.

Peking, Feb. 6.—The revolutionary leaders have telegraphed to Premier Yuan Shih Kai suggesting that orders be issued by both sides to stop fighting. It is understood that Yuan has sent a reply in which he cordially approves of the suggestion.

Peking, Feb. 6.—Reports of two battles between the imperial forces and the revolutionary armies have been received here and in both conflicts the republicans were victorious. The first report states that the imperial troops commanded by General Chang Hsun were attacked and driven back by the rebels, who sustained a loss of about 100 killed and wounded. It is added that 1,000 of the imperial soldiers deserted to the enemy. Another dispatch received here comes from Mukden and says that the royal forces sent to attack the revolutionaries who were recently landed at the mouth of the Yalu river have met with a sharp repulse, in which they lost eighty killed, while the republicans had but twenty killed.

Police Still Puzzled. New York, Feb. 6.—It looks as if those who are looking for the person who sent to Grace Willis Walker the bomb that went off in her hands and killed her in her parlor at 106 West Seventy-seventh street on Saturday last may eliminate from their quest the woman's two reputed husbands, J. Howard Taylor and Howard Walker, for there seems to be no doubt that Taylor and Walker were one man and that man is dead. No clue has been found as to the identity of the messenger boy who delivered the bomb.

Objections Were Interposed. Washington, Feb. 6.—The feature of the senate session yesterday was a debate between Senator Williams of Mississippi and Senator Heyburn of Idaho over a bill proposing a monument to the valor of the Confederate navy to be erected at Vicksburg. The bill carried an appropriation of $50,000 and after a debate of an hour and a half it went over on objections of Senator Heyburn.

Dickens and Stowe Centennials To Be Celebrated Very Fittingly

There will be two centenary anniversaries this year that will command more than passing attention. The first of these—that of Charles Dickens—is to be celebrated next week throughout the English speaking world, with feast, song and festival. That of the other, Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be observed with fitting ceremony in June. Each of these famous writers marked a pivotal point in our civilization, for which we shall ever be their grateful debtor. One was an American and the other a Britain. Both were reformers who struck fearlessly at the evils of their time and made the world better for their having lived. Of the two—to Americans at least—the name of Harriet Beecher Stowe will stand for centuries to come as one of the moving forces in our native literature. While not comparable perhaps in the elegance of its diction to the works of some other American authors, the inherent power of her homely story of Uncle Tom had an appeal to our imagination and sympathy excited by no book published before or since. It crystallized the abolition sentiment in the north and gave impetus to the movement which made inevitable the emancipation of the black man.

While Dickens, wrote more "best sellers" than did Mrs. Stowe, no one work of his commanded the world-wide attention or caused such a political upheaval as "Uncle Tom's Cabin" provoked. Yet in his own field Dickens was as powerful an instrument for good and did much to improve the condition of the masses of the United Kingdom. Both he and Mrs. Stowe got close to the sympathies of their audience by talking to them on these commonplaces of life that are fundamental and strike a responsible chord in every heart. As the spokesman for the man underneath, what they said seldom missed the mark against which it was directed. More than everything else they demonstrated the innate sense of justice of the people when appealed to for the correction of a wrong. Years before, Patrick Henry had shown the effectiveness of this appeal in his famous "Give me liberty or give me death" speech but between the work of the orator and the book, there is this difference; the book speaks and inspires millions and is imperishable, while the orator addresses his eloquence to a few and its thrill usually is soon forgotten.

For creating deep and lasting impressions the written word is the thing that supplies us with the motive power for much of that which we do. By its power of suggestion it moves us—often unconsciously—to an appreciation of things and conditions, the existence of which we do not suspect or passively realizing, do not fully comprehend. While "Uncle Tom's Cabin" undoubtedly was the most important contributing factor to the Civil War, it was the editorial of Horace Greeley in the New York Tribune, calling upon Lincoln to free the slaves, that caused the martyred President to issue his Emancipation Proclamation at that time, instead of later. In our own times we have had a striking example of this same power of suggestion in the historical work, "The Catholic Church In The United States," which brought so concretely and vividly to the attention of Pius X, the striking growth of that body in this country that it is said to have determined him to appoint three new American cardinals instead of one. The singular thing about "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which was written by Mrs. Stowe from incidents passing under her observation while living in Cincinnati "across the border" and about Dickens works, Greeley's editorial and the Catholic history which is a mosaic of the writings of some 6000 nuns, priests and laymen and women, is that their authors never anticipated that their labors would cause the profound stir in the political, social and religious world that they did.

The interest in the Dickens and Stowe centennials as in that of Greeley's last spring will be world-wide, spontaneous and reverently sincere.

If You Eat You Need 'Digestit'

The New Relief for Indigestion

It has been stated that more than eighty million people in the United States are victims of some form of indigestion. The American people do not take time enough to eat. The result is stomach distress, gas, belching, indigestion and dyspepsia.

"Digestit" is the new relief—it has been found a certain quick and permanent remedy. Thousands of people have found relief from its use. Their own statements on file in our office are proof.

Glenwood.

More winter and more winter. If the groundhog came out he surely saw his shadow. This means according to the old saying that we are to have six weeks of winter. We will be careful not to seem to grumble.

Rev. H. D. Sterrett was able to preach Sunday morning after his sickness of two weeks with lagrippe. His sermon was as usual practical and full of zeal. If it had a theme it was "Assurance." It was taken from a conversation to Timothy giving his reason for the faith in Christ Jesus, our Saviour, "For we know, etc." The discourse was among the best sermons ever delivered from the sacred desk in our quiet village and we have had some good ones too. Oh, members of the church you don't know how much you miss when you stay at home and miss these sermons. The audience was very small on account of the inclemency of the weather. No church service was held on Sunday evening because so few could get out. No services will be held next Sunday eve unless Bro.

HERE IS A REMEDY THAT WILL CURE SKIN AND SCALP AFFECTIONS

And we Can Prove It.

The F. E. Wolcott Drug Store says to every person be it man, woman or child who has an irritated, tender, inflamed, itching Skin or Scalp, you need not suffer another day. "We have a refined skin preparation that acts instantly and will bring you swift and sure results."

One warm bath with ZEMO SOAP and one application of ZEMO and you will soon see a cure in sight.

ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP are proven cures for every form of skin or scalp affection. They are sold by one leading druggist in every city or town in America and in Rushville by F. E. Wolcott's Drug Store.

The Sound Sleep of Good Health

Is not for those suffering from kidney ailments and irregularities. The prompt use of Foley Kidney Pills will dispel backache and rheumatism, heal and strengthen sore, weak and ailing kidneys, restore normal action, and with it health and strength. Mrs. M. F. Spalsbury, Sterling, Ill., says: "I suffered great pain in my back and kidneys, could not sleep at night, and could not raise my hands over my head. But two bottles of Foley Kidney Pills cured me." F. B. Johnson & Co.

Foley Kidney Pills will cure any case of kidney or bladder trouble not beyond the reach of medicine. No medicine can do more. F. B. Johnson & Co.

STERRETT GETS STRONGER AND THE WEATHER MODERATES.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Murphy and daughter Jessie started to church last Sunday morning in a sleigh. They had not proceeded very far until the shafts were disconnected from the sleigh and the horse went down the road toward Glenwood drawing Mr. Murphy after him on his head and shoulders, but fortunately for Mr. Murphy he was not injured. After extricating himself from the lines Mr. Murphy followed the horse until he was caught. Mr. Murphy returned to bring Mrs. Murphy and his daughter to church. Before returning home he hastened the shafts to the sleigh secure.

While Dr. J. T. Paxton was returning from Mr. Bundrant's where he was attending a very sick boy he was coming up Bunker hill on slow gear, and all of a sudden he went backward and fell over a culvert which is about four feet high. The chains on his wheels would not prevent the sliding backward. Mr. Lewark went there Saturday and brought out the machine. This was a very narrow escape for if the machine had gone over to the north it probably would have rolled some 50 or 60 feet and the doctor would have been injured.

Miss Gladys Mapes came home from Indianapolis where she has been attending the Hes-Devor business school. She stopped off at Rushville and visited high school where attended school last year. She went back to Indianapolis Sunday evening to be ready to take a position with the Udell works on Monday morning.

Miss Ruth Harwell will return to DePauw University on Thursday. She will not have any vacation until the close of the semester in June.

Mrs. Reynolds has been quite sick this winter.

The Scholl will ease which came up for trial in Fayette Circuit court was compromised.

Matthew Hinchman does not improve very rapidly.

Messrs Marshall Hinchman, Jr., and Raymond Nesbit have returned from their extended visit in the Southwest. Their opinion is that Oklahoma is the best farming section in the Southwest. Mr. Hinchman has had an attack of rheumatism since his arrival.

Paul Daubenspeck has been moving all last week. He moved to the Dagler farm west of King's corner. Mr. and Mrs. Daubenspeck has made many friends while living in Glenwood. We commend them to that community to which he moves.

The candidates from Fayette county have been doing our town almost every day last week. Some of them seem to be making some inroads.

Mrs. J. H. Link has an attack of rheumatism which confines her to the house.

The changes in moving around have begun. Mr. Daubenspeck has moved out. W. C. Runyan will move in the house vacated by Mr. Daubenspeck. George C. Jones will occupy the house vacated by Mr. Runyan. Frank Alexander will occupy the house vacated by Mr. Jones. Albert Gray will move on Will Brown's place near Connersville, and Albert Timberman will move into the house vacated by Mr. Gray. We don't know the name of the family that moves into the Smith house.

John Scholl came home one day last week from Indianapolis where he is attending school. His eyes are weak and he had to give them rest. He went back Sunday evening to resume his studies.

A. P. Reynolds contemplates remodeling his store room, which was lowered 20 or 22 inches last spring, but he will put some kind of metal on the ceiling and walls down to the shelving.

Several new houses will be erected here this season.

An Epidemic of Coughing

Is sweeping over the town. Old and young alike are affected, and the strain is particularly hard on little children and on elderly people. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is a quick, safe and reliable cure for all coughs and colds. Contains no opiates. F. B. Johnson & Co.

See page 4 for account of Klondike Stock Farm sale. 277114

Germes Spread in Skin

Eczema, Psoriasis and other skin troubles are caused by myriads of germs at work in the skin. Unless these germs are promptly destroyed they rapidly multiply, gnawing their way deep into the sensitive tissue. This is what causes that awful itch, and what seemed a mere rash may grow worse and develop into a loathsome and torturing skin disease with its years of misery.

Don't take any chances! Destroy the germs at the beginning of the trouble with that soothing and cleansing wash, the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema. A 25c bottle will prove this to you.

We have had experience with many remedies for skin trouble but have never seen such remarkable cures as those from D. D. D. Prescription. Instant relief from the very first application.

We are so confident that D. D. D. will reach your case that it will cost you nothing if the very first full size bottle fails to make good every claim.

If you have skin trouble of any kind, we certainly advise you to drop in and investigate the merits of D. D. D. Anyway. We know that D. D. D. will help you.

Harpers Weekly now knows the folly of supporting a candidate for the presidency without having a license from the proper authorities.

From the way Marse Henry Waterson lays about him, we judge that he wants to disclaim the reproach of being an innocent bystander as quickly as possible.

There is nothing to indicate, if Thomas Ryan walked up to Tammany hall with a campaign contribution, that they would throw the money indignantly into New York harbor.

Gov. Wilson has been visiting Gov. Foss of Massachusetts, but it is not probable that they decided the question of who should run for the presidency by snapping up a cent.

It is rumored that the express companies may be required to reduce the rates on packages. It would confirm their reputation as philanthropists if the coin came down before Uncle Sam blazes away.

How many people in Rushville or Rush county will recall tomorrow that it is the centennial of the birth of the greatest novelist ever born? How many will draw out their old and worn (if they aren't they should be) volumes and read, with renewed interest, of humanity, described as it never was or probably never will be by any human hand. Dickens should have a prominent place on the bookshelf in every home, and the manner in which the hundredth anniversary of his birth will be celebrated tomorrow should be sufficient proof that such advice is not without value.

Representative Finly Gray of this district has followed a course in congress which will hardly commend him to any Democratic voter. He scarcely ever follows his party caucus in questions of great importance, but rather votes in his own strong-headed way.

He is not likely to get any place by such action. Fortunately one man can't run the house of representatives. He will never accomplish anything without he stays with the majority which the Democrats now have. His one vote does not amount to much stacked up against the Democratic caucus vote. Yet he pretends that he is voting the way he believes best and he generally breaks in print every time he casts his vote. On the face of it his actions appear to be on the order of the grandstand player.

Editorialesettes.

WANTS SON TO BE AN EVANGELIST

Mrs. Mary E. Selby Believes Norman, Better Known as Kid McCoy, Should Heed Calling.

SHE ASSISTS IN REVIVAL

Says Rush County Man Was Always a Good Boy Even in the Ring.

Kid McCoy, one time aspirant to the championship in the heavyweight class and now at work convincing the sporting public that a prize fighter can really come back will abandon the ring and send rights and lefts at the sinful world, if the dreams of his mother come true.

Mrs. Mary E. Selby of Los Angeles, mother of the once famous fighter, is in Indianapolis assisting in the revival services conducted by Mrs. Maria Woodworth Etter, faith healer. The "kid" was born and reared down near Moscow and has many relatives around here.

Mrs. Selby has written to "Kid," pleading that he give up boxing bouts and prize fights and become converted. She wants him to join her in an evangelistic tour of the world.

Several years ago when Mrs. Selby and her son, whose out-of-the-ring name is Norman Selby, were residents of Indianapolis, she became interested in the evangelistic work of Mrs. Etter. For several years the Selbys have lived in Los Angeles, but a few days ago Mrs. Selby returned to help in the work at the little church in the northern part of the city. She is conducting nightly meetings.

"I was always proud of Norman," said Mrs. Selby. "He was always a good boy and while I did not approve his going into the fight business he always fought square and was clean. Ever since he first began earning money that he took care of me and saw that I was well provided for."

"I believe he is getting tired of that kind of thing. Of course he has gone back at it again, but it's only just temporarily. He just wants to show people that he still has some fight left in him."

ARGUMENT IN COURT ALL DAY

Court Hears Cary Cowghill on Motion For New Trial in Richey-Big 4 Damage Suit.

IS HELD IN THE LAW LIBRARY

State Cases Against John Smalley and John Wolters Postponed Until Next Term.

Late this afternoon the court was still hearing the argument on a motion for a new trial in the damage suit of Richey against the Big Four. This occupied the time of the court all day.

Reports on guardianships and those of administrators, as well as inventories, are beginning to come in to the court. Yesterday Judge Blair at the opening of this term of court made it plain that he would not allow attorneys to delay probate matters which should be up and on which the time limit had expired. He read a list in which reports and inventories were due.

At the convening of court this morning Judge Blair continued two criminal cases until next term of court. They were those of the State against George Smalley and the State against John Wolters, city policeman. Smalley is charged with selling mortgaged property and Wolters is charged with assault and battery on Marion McCann while arresting him.

The damage suit of Thomas McAllister, chief of police, against Miller, proprietor of the Grand hotel, was set down for trial Feb. 29. The case has been in court several terms and the court is anxious to be rid of it.

The court was removed to the law library this morning because of the lack of heat in the large court room. The morning was occupied with hearing of the argument on a motion for a new trial in the case of Richey against the Big Four, a damage suit. Cary Cowghill of Wabash represented the Big Four. Richey obtained a verdict against the railroad in the court several months ago.

AMUSEMENTS

The Portola will show the usual two pictures tonight. "The Night Herder" is a Selig drama of life on the plains. The other picture is a "Pathe Weekly, No. 48." These Pathe pictures are very popular and are different from the usual run of pictures. Scenes of important events both in this country and Europe are shown.

"Cowboy Life" is the first picture at the Princess is a Pathe film showing real scenes from a big western ranch. "The Man in the Lake" is a thrilling drama. Tomorrow and Thursday nights a benefit will be given for the Rushville band. A concert will be given by the band as an extra feature.

The two reel production "Hands Across the Sea in '76" at the Palace last night proved to be a very interesting feature and one of historical value. The picture will be the attraction again tonight. The production gives the important part France played in the Revolution from the time Franklin went there to seek aid until the surrender of Yorktown. The part Lafayette played in the great struggle is also pictured. In all forty-four scenes of the most important incidents are shown including two very realistic battle scenes.

VOTES AGAINST HIS PARTY AGAIN

Representative Finly Gray Arouses Ire of Democratic Leaders by Acting Up Again.

WOULD UPHOLD HOUSE RULES

Representative Finly H. Gray of Indiana has aroused the ire of the Democratic bosses of the House by his vote against the resolution adapted which nullifies the discharge calendar, says a Washington dispatch. The discharge calendar was one of the reforms which the insurgents and Democrats in the last congress wrested from Speaker Cannon. It furnished a way to prevent bills from being throttled in committees by bringing them out and giving the house a chance to vote on them. Gray was the only Democrat from Indiana who voted to keep the discharge calendar intact. He also voted against the previous question on the resolution to change the discharge calendar.

"I voted," he said, "against the resolution to amend the new rules and to resolve more power to the speaker, not because this power would be a bad thing in the hands of a good speaker, but because it would establish a precedent and give power to a bad speaker who would abuse that power."

And, when I stood up, Raoul, and told him that I could only despise him if he did not, then and there, give me my liberty . . . he offered it . . . he offered to show me the mysterious road . . . Only . . . only he rose too . . . and I was made to remember that, though he was not an angel, nor a ghost, nor a genius, he remained the voice . . . for he sang. And I listened . . . and stayed! . . . That night, we did not exchange another word. He sang me to sleep.

"When I woke up, I was alone, lying on a sofa in a simply furnished little bedroom, with an ordinary mahogany bedstead, lit by a lamp standing on the marble top of an old Louis-Philippe chest of drawers. I soon discovered that I was a prisoner and that the only outlet from my room led to a very comfortable bathroom. On returning to the bedroom, I saw on the chest of drawers a note, in red ink, which said, 'My dear Christine, you need have no concern as to your fate. You have no better nor more respectful friend in the world than myself. You are alone, at present, in this home which is yours. I am going out shopping to fetch you all the things that you can need.' I felt sure that I had fallen into the hands of a madman. I ran round my little apartment, looking for a way of escape which I could not find. I upbraided myself for my absurd superstition, which had caused me to fall into the trap. I felt inclined to laugh and to cry at the same time.

"This was the state of mind in which Erik found me. After giving three taps on the wall, he walked in quietly through a door which I had not noticed and which he left open. He had his arms full of boxes and parcels and arranged them on the bed, in a leisurely fashion, while I overwhelmed him with abuse and called upon him to take off his mask, if it covered the face of an honest man. He replied serenely, 'You shall never see Erik's face.' And he reproached me with not having finished dressing at that time of day; he was good enough to tell me that it was two o'clock in the afternoon. He said he would give me half an hour and, while he spoke, wound up my watch and set it for me. After which, he asked me to come to the dining-room, where a nice lunch was waiting for us.

"I was very angry, slammed the door in his face and went to the bathroom. . . . When I came out again feeling greatly refreshed Erik said that he loved me, but that he would never tell me so except when I allowed him and that the rest of the time would be devoted to music. 'What do you mean by the rest of the time?' I asked. 'Five days,' he said, with decision. I asked him if I should then be free and he said, 'You will be free, Christine, for, when those five days are past, you will have learned not to see me; and then, from time to time, you will come to see your poor Erik!' He pointed to a chair opposite him, at a small table, and I sat down, feeling greatly perturbed. However, I ate a few prawns and the wing of a chicken and drank half a glass of tokay, which he had himself, he told me, brought from the Konigsberg cellars. Erik did not eat or drink. I asked him what his nationality was and if that name of Erik did not point to his Scandinavian origin. He said that he had no name and no country and that he had taken the name of Erik by accident.

"After lunch, he rose and gave me the tips of his fingers, saying he would like to show me over his flat; but I snatched away my hand and gave a cry. What I had touched was cold and, at the same time, bony; and I remembered that his hands smelt of death. 'Oh, forgive me!' he moaned. And he opened a door before me. This was my bedroom, if you care to see it. It is rather curious.' His manners, his words, his attitude gave me confidence and I went in without hesitation. I felt as if I were entering the room of a dead person. The walls were all hung with black, but, instead of the white trimmings that usually set off that funeral upholstery, there was an enormous stove of music with the notes of the Dies Irae, many times repeated. In the middle of the room was a canopy, from which hung curtains of red brocade stuff, and, under the canopy, an open coffin. 'That is where I sleep,' said Erik. 'One has to get used to everything in life, even to eternity.' The sight upset me so much that I turned away my head.

"Then I saw the keyboard of an organ which filled one whole side of the walls. On the desk was a music-book covered with red notes. I asked leave to look at it and read, 'Don Juan Triumphant.' 'Yes,' he said, 'I compose sometimes. I began that work twenty years ago. When I have finished, I shall take it away with me in that coffin and never wake up

COVERED WITH SORES

Many People Don't Know How to Get Rid of Skin Troubles. Try This Remedy at Our Risk.

There are many people whose skin is almost covered with sores caused by eczema or some other skin trouble and who suffer terribly when they might easily have relief.

What they need is a remedy that will heal thoroughly without irritating, but ordinarily ointments are useless in such cases.

That is the condition our new skin remedy, Saxon Salve, was devised especially to meet, and we sell it under a positive guaranty of satisfaction or money back. Even in the first few days of treatment, you can see a remarkable improvement.

Saxon Salve gives immediate relief from the terrible itching and burning, and also penetrates the skin thoroughly, healing it in a short time. It is the most satisfactory we have ever seen, and is as good for young children as for older people. F. B. Johnson & Co. druggists, Rushville, Ind.

again. 'You must work at it as seldom as you can,' I said. He replied, 'I sometimes work at it for fourteen days and nights together, during which I live on music only, and then I rest for years at a time.' 'Will you play me something out of your Don Juan Triumphant?' I asked, thinking to please him. 'You must never ask me that,' he said, in a gloomy voice. 'I will play you Mozart, if you like, which will only make you weep; but my Don Juan, Christine, burns; and yet he is not struck by fire from heaven.' Thereupon we returned to the drawing-room. I noticed that there was no mirror in the whole apartment. I was going to remark upon this, but Erik had already sat down to the piano. He said, 'You see, Christine, there is some music that is so terrible that it consumes all those who approach it. Fortunately, you have not come to that music yet, for you would lose all your pretty coloring and nobody would know you when you returned to Paris. Let us sing something from the opera, Christine Daae.' He spoke these last words as though he were flinging an insult at me.

"What did you do?" "I had no time to think about the meaning he put into his words. We at once began the duet in Othello and already the catastrophe was upon us. I sang Desdemona with a despair, a terror which I had never displayed before. As for him, his voice thundered forth his revengeful soul at every note. Love, jealousy, hatred, burst out around us in harrowing cries. Erik's black mask made me think of the natural mask of the Moor of Venice. He was Othello himself. Suddenly, I felt a need to see beneath the mask. I wanted to know the face of the voice, and, with a movement which I was utterly unable to control, swiftly my fingers tore away the mask. Oh, horror, horror, horror!" Christine stopped, at the thought of the vision that had scared her, while the echoes of the night, which had repeated the name of Erik, now thrice moaned the cry:

"Horror! . . . Horror! . . . Horror!"

Raoul and Christine, clasping each other closely, raised their eyes to the stars that shone in a clear and peaceful sky. Raoul said:

"Strange, Christine, that this calm, soft night should be so full of plaintive sounds. One would think that it was sorrowing with us."

"When you know the secret, Raoul, your ears, like mine, will be full of lamentations."

She took Raoul's protecting hands in hers and, with a long shiver, continued:

"Yes, if I lived to be a hundred, I should always hear the superhuman cry of grief and rage which he uttered when the terrible sight appeared before my eyes. . . . Raoul, you have seen death's heads, when they have been dried and withered by the centuries, and, perhaps, if you were not the victim of a nightmare, you saw his death's head at Perros. And then you saw Red Death stalking about at the last masked ball. But all those death's heads were motionless and their dumb horror was not alive. But imagine, if you can, Red Death's mask suddenly coming to life in order to express, with the four black holes of its eyes, its nose, and its mouth, the extreme anger, the mighty fury of a demon; and not a ray of light from the sockets, for, as I learned later, you cannot see his blazing eyes except in the dark.

"I fell back against the wall and he came up to me, grinding his teeth, and, as I fell upon my knees, he hissed mad, incoherent words and curses at me. Leaning over me, he cried: 'Look! You want to see! See! Feast your eyes, glut your soul on my cursed ugliness! Look at Erik's face! Now you know the face of the voice! You were not content to hear me, eh? You wanted to know what I looked like! Oh, you women are so inquisitive! Well, are you satisfied? Is a very good-looking fellow, eh? . . . When a woman has seen me, as you have, she belongs to me. She loves me for ever. I am a kind of Don Juan, you know! And, drawing himself up to his full height, with his hand on his hip, wagging the hideous thing that was his head on his shoulders, he roared, 'Look at me! I am Don Juan Triumphant!' And, when I turned away my head and begged for mercy, he drew it to him, brutally, twisting his dead fingers into my hair."

"Enough! Enough!" cried Raoul. "I will kill him. In heaven's name, Christine, tell me where the dining-room on the lake is! I must kill him!" "Oh, be quiet, Raoul, if you want to know!"

"Yes, I want to know how and why you went back; I must know! . . . But, in any case, I will kill him!" "Oh, Raoul, listen, listen! . . . He dragged me by my hair and then . . . and then . . . Oh, it is too horrible!"

"Well, what? Out with it!" exclaimed Raoul fiercely. "Out with it, quick!" "Then he hissed at me. 'Ah, I frighten you, do I? . . . I dare say! . . . Perhaps you think that I have another mask, eh, and that this . . . this . . . my head is a mask? Well,' he roared, 'tear it off as you did the other! Come! Come along! I insist! Your hands! Your hands! Give me your hands!' And he seized my hands and dug them into his awful face. He tore his flesh with my nails, tore his terrible dead flesh with my nails! . . . 'Know,' he shouted, while his throat throbbed and panted like a furnace, 'know that I am built up of death from head to foot, and that it is a corpse that loves you and adores you and will never, never leave you! . . . Look, I am not laughing now, I am crying, crying for you, Christine, who have torn off my mask and who therefore can never leave me again! . . . As long as you thought me handsome you could have come back, I know you would have come back . . . but, now that you know my hideousness, you shall run away for good. . . . So I shall keep you here! . . . Why did you want to see me? Oh, mad Christine, who wanted to see me! . . . When my own father never saw me and when my mother, so as not to see me, made me a present of my first mask!"

"He had let go of me at last and was dragging himself about on the floor, uttering terrible sobs. And then he crawled away like a snake, went into his room, closed the door and left me alone to my reflections. Presently I heard the sound of the organ; and then I began to understand Erik's contemptuous phrase when he spoke about opera music. What I now heard was utterly different from what I had heard up to then. His Don Juan Triumphant (for I had not a doubt but that he had rushed to his masterpiece to forget the horror of the moment) seemed to me at first one long, awful, magnificent sob. But, little by little, it expressed every emotion, every suffering of which mankind is capable. It intoxicated me; and I opened the door that separated us. Erik rose, as I entered, but dared not turn in my direction. 'Erik,' I cried, 'show me your face without fear! I swear that you are the most unhappy and sublime of men; and, if ever again I shiver when I look at you, it will be because I am thinking of the splendor of your genius!' Then Erik turned round, for he believed me, and I also had faith in myself. He fell at my feet, with words of love . . . with words of love in his dead mouth . . . and the music had ceased . . . He kissed the hem of my dress and did not see that I closed my eyes.

"What more can I tell you, dear? You now know the tragedy. It went on for a fortnight—a fortnight during which I lied to him. My lies were as hideous as the monster who inspired them; but they were the price of my liberty. I burned his mask; and I managed so well—that, even when he was not singing, he tried to catch my eye, like a dog sitting by its master. He was my faithful slave and paid me endless little attentions. Gradually, I gave him such confidence that he ventured to take me walking on the banks of the lake and to row me in the boat on its leaden waters; toward the end of my captivity he let me out through the gates that closed the underground passages in the Rue Scribe. Here a carriage awaited us and took us to the Bois. The night when we met you was nearly fatal to me, for he is terribly jealous of you and I had to tell him that you were soon going away. . . . Then, at last, after a fortnight of that horrible captivity, during which I was filled with pity, enthusiasm, despair and horror by turns, he believed me when I said, 'I will come back!'"

PAPER BAG COOKING

Great System Perfected by M. Soyer, Famous London Chef.

USEFUL HINTS FOR CONVERTS.

By Martha McCulloch Williams. Paper bag cooking is a liberal education in other things beside economy and flavor. It teaches you to beware, also to take care. The being ware applies particularly to the bags themselves—their care and keeping, no less their use.

If the paper bag habit is firmly established do not keep the bags lying about loose, nor huddled in drawers, nor, worst of all, rolled up or crumpled. A large part of their value is risked by such crumpling. Let them lie flat where it is dry, cool and airy. Of course, protect them from dust.

To this end get a light wooden box, nail shelves inside it, say two or three inches apart, and hinge on a door, or hang a washable curtain over the front of it. Lay the bags upon the shelves, each size separate. It may be well to mark the bag-sizes on the shelves holding them.

Lard, butter or drippings for greasing the bags should be kept in small wide-mouthed glass jars, with close-fitting glass tops.

Roast of Veal.—Get half a breast of veal, bone it carefully, lay it on a board, skin side down, season with salt and pepper, and spread thickly over it sausage stuffing. To make the stuffing take half pork sausage meat and half well dried bread crumbs and moisten with a beaten egg and enough milk to make it stick together, but not to make it wet. Roll up carefully and tie with clean string, taking care especially to keep the ends close. Rub over with butter or dripping and put in a well buttered bag, laying around it slices of carrot, turnip and onion. Cook for five minutes in a very hot oven, then slack heat half, and cook for forty-five minutes more.

Saute of Chicken with Mushrooms.—Cut a young tender chicken into joints, trim off all projecting bones, season with salt and pepper—not too highly—and brush over with melted butter. Put into a well-buttered bag with eight large or twelve small mushrooms, cut in slices. Add a pinch of herbs, a very small onion, and half a gill of good white stock. Seal bag tight, give ten minutes in a very hot oven, then thirty in moderate heat. Take up on a hot dish and keep hot while you make the gravy. Take for the gravy the hot liquor from the bag, put it in a bowl with the yolk of an egg beaten up in half a gill of cream. Stir hard over hot water, but do not let boil. When thoroughly blended, pour over the chicken, garnish with chopped parsley, a few mushroom heads and half moons of crisp puff paste. Serve as hot as possible.

Luncheon Savories.—Spread small thin round water crackers with anchovy paste mixed half and half with butter, lay upon the paste a thin slice of ripe tomato, over that a sprinkle of grated cheese, then a slice of banana, more grated cheese, and on top a slice of pickled walnut. Season as you pile with a suspicion of salt and paprika, and pour a little melted butter over all. Cook in a buttered bag ten minutes in a fairly hot oven. ### PAPER BAG DINNER.

By M. Soyer, Chef of Brooks' Club, London.

Roast of Beef.—Take a pound of cold roast beef, free of fat, and skin, put it through the mincing machine, and add to it six ounces of minced ham or bacon, fat and lean together. Season highly with pepper and salt. Add a teaspoonful of minced olives, a few drops of tabasco, a teaspoonful of minced parsley, a grate of lemon peel, and a dust of nutmeg. Mix well, then add four ounces of macaroni, cooked and cut into bits and then tossed in butter. Mix again, then add the yolks of two eggs well beaten, and, last of all, the whites whipped stiff. When all this is thoroughly mixed, roll up in well-greased Soyer paper (a side or end of a bag cut for the purpose), put in a greased bag, fold, clip, put on broiler, and bake twenty-five minutes in a moderate oven. Serve with a thick tomato sauce.

Potatoes Maitre d'Hotel.—Cut up six cold boiled potatoes. Put in a well-buttered bag, with half a glass of milk, an ounce of butter, salt, pepper, a grate of nutmeg, and a little chopped parsley. Fold and clip bag, and cook for fifteen minutes.

Spinach.—Pick and wash clean, but leave as wet as possible. Put in a bag, with a little sugar and a pinch of salt. Seal bag, and cook for thirty-five minutes. Stand broiler on a plate, prick the bag, let the water drain out, then dish up, and add a lump of butter, dust with black pepper and serve.

Peach Roll.—Make a good crust, as for shortcake, but rather softer, divide, and roll each half into a long slip. Sift sugar upon the bread-board rather scantily. Lay the rolled crust upon it, then sift sugar over the upper side of it. Cover the sugar with ripe, juicy peaches sliced very thin. Sprinkle on more sugar, dot here and there with bits of butter, and roll up, pinching the ends tight. Slip the rolls inside a greased bag—the nearer they fill it the better. Lay on the upper shelf of the stove, and cook thirty minutes. (Copyright, 1911, by Nicholas Soyer.) To be Continued.

SAYS EVIDENCE IS FABRICATION

Lorimer Committee Stenograph- er Knocks Dictagraph.

IT HAS CREATED A SENSATION

When Formal Allegation Was Made
Before Committee That Detective
Burns's Mechanical Testimony Against Lorimer Witness Bore Evidence of Having Been Manufactured, a Flurry Was Created in Committee.

Washington, Feb. 6.—When Milton W. Blumenberg, official reporter of the committee, took the witness stand and in all seriousness repeated his charge that the stenographic notes submitted in evidence by Detective Burns's dictagraph operator, J. E. Sheridan, were fabricated, interest in the Lorimer investigation became intense. Blumenberg furnished the committee with the names of eleven official reporters employed at the capitol and asked that they be called as expert witnesses to corroborate his charges.

Mr. Blumenberg appeared before the committee to answer the charge of contempt made against him because of his conduct in the presence of the committee Saturday night. The committee held an executive session and then announced that by unanimous vote they had dispensed with the services of Blumenberg as official reporter and had subpoenaed him as a witness.

J. E. Sheridan, the Burns stenographer, whose testimony had led to the sensational scene in the committee, explained the method by which he took notes. He said the notes were accurate, produced the dictagraph before the committee and explained its working, and in answer to a question from Mr. Dillingham, signified his willingness to submit to any test that the committee might prescribe to determine the accuracy of his machine and of his capacity to hear and record a conversation under the circumstances which had surrounded his report made at Toronto of the alleged conversation between A. C. Bailey, Harry Kerr and Charles McGowan, a Lorimer witness, is alleged to have made damaging admissions.

There was a flurry in the committee
after Sheridan left the witness chair.
The attorneys for Lorimer insisted that Blumenberg be called as a witness at once, before the Lorimer witness took the stand.

Senator Kern and Senator Lea took turns questioning Blumenberg. It was manifest that both senators resented the action of the official reporter of the committee. They tried to get him to admit that he had acted for the Lorimer side in his efforts to impeach the accuracy of Sheridan's report, but the witness insisted he had acted on his own volition. He said he had become interested in Sheridan's account of the working of the dictagraph merely as a stenographer and from the standpoint of a shorthand expert. He testified that he had thought it was mechanically perfect for such work and did not require the assistance of any human agency. Prompted by his interest in the machine, he had interviewed Sheridan for about five minutes and had decided that Sheridan was an "amateur," and after studying the notes as they appeared in Sheridan's notebook produced in evidence, he had reached the conclusion
they were "manufactured."

"Did anyone suggest to you that you examine Sheridan?" asked Senator Kern.

"No," was the reply.

W. J. Burns, head of the Burns detective agency, does not intend to rest under the imputation that his agency has been engaged in a "frameup." He not only has absolute confidence in Detective Bailey, who "roped" Charles McGowan, the Canadian, who admitted to Bailey that he had perjured himself, but in James E. Sheridan, the dictagraph operator, who heard and reported McGowan's admission. Mr.
Burns announced that either Milton
W. Blumenberg, the official stenographer of the committee, or Sheridan should be sent to jail.

Contraband of War.
Modane, France, Feb. 6.—Four aeroplanes and a carload of melinite were seized here as they were about to be shipped across the Italian frontier.
The French authorities claim that the seized articles are contraband of war

Italian army in Tripoli.

MADERO DETERMINED TO SUPPRESS REBELS

Strong Force of Federal Troops Sent North.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 6.—A full battalion of federal troops with a machine gun platoon will be sent to Juarez.
It is reported, to campaign in and around that town and between there and Casas Grandes in the suppression of the rebel bands now working independently in that section. Casas Grandes is reported to be in the hands of the Vasquistas. Pearson, Chihuahua, was also reported taken by a band of 200 armed men who claimed to be Vasquistas or followers of Emilio Vasquez Gomez.

At San Andreas, which is on the Mexico Northwestern west of Chihuahua, fighting is reported to have occurred. Fighting is also reported at Santa Isabel, on the Northwestern below Madera. No trains are running south of Madera.

Things are as quiet in Juarez as a Quaker meeting, the federal forces having taken the mutineers and marched them off toward Chihuahua.

BADLY SHAKEN UP

Private Car of Pennsylvania Railway Official Goes Into Ditch.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Feb. 6.—J. J. Turner, second vice president of the Pen-sylvania railroad, was slightly injured when his private car was derailed at the western limits of the city.

Mr. Turner was enroute to Chicago and his private car was the rear coach of limited train No. 5. The car was derailed and whipped from the track, rolling down an embankment. It was so badly wrecked that it will be destroyed. Mr. Turner received a slight cut on the head and an abrasion of the arm, neither injury being serious. One of the porters in his car was also slightly injured.

ard Oil Company of Indiana on March ferring over the situation confronting them as the result of the collapse of the La Follette boom. They realize that something will have to be done by them without delay.

Notwithstanding the collapse of his boom, Senator La Follette has decided to let his name go before the Republican national convention, even if he is unable to obtain any more delegates than he has pledged to him at

CHECK AGAINST SALARY BOOST

State Board of Accounts Get- ting at the Facts.

LONG SERIES OF QUESTIONS

Blanks Sent to County and Township Officials Demanding Information on Which to Base an Intelligent Estimate When the Inevitable Bill For Boosting Salaries of Public Officials Comes Before the Next Legislature.

Indianapolis, Feb. 6.—W. A. Dehorty, chief of the state board of accounts, has prepared to send blanks to township trustees, county sheriffs, county assessors, county auditors, county treasurers, county recorders, county coroners, clerks of circuit courts, boards of county commissioners and prosecuting attorneys for information to be placed before the next general assembly as a basis for a revision of the fees and salaries laws where needed. A total of 349 questions are asked the county officials, and sixty-two are asked the township trustees. The questions are designed to collect information concerning the amount of business done in the respective offices, the amount of time given the work by the official in charge, the number of deputies required, the amount paid deputies, fees collected and retained, salaries received, etc.

The blanks were prepared in response to a concurrent resolution introduced by Albert J. Veneman, speaker of the house in the recent session, who suggested the move as a sensible way of getting at facts concerning fees and salaries that public officials were asking to have increased. The adoption of the resolution promptly put a stop to a dozen or more bills then under way to increase salaries in various counties of the state.

BARGES GO DOWN

Ice in the Ohio River Again Is Causing Serious Damage.

Evansville, Ind., Feb. 6.—For the second time in two weeks navigation on the lower Ohio river between Louisville and Cairo, Ill., is suspended.
The ice sank a barge containing 50,000 feet of lumber, a few miles above here.
The barge belonged to the coal combine of Pittsburgh.

Several barges between this city and Cairo have been sunk by the ice.
All the local boats have gone into winter quarters in the mouth of Green river. Both the Wabash and White rivers are filled with heavy ice.

The gorge in the Wabash river at New Harmony is reported to be several miles long.

JEALOUS HUSBAND

Fatally Wounded Wife and Then Killed Himself.

Vincennes, Ind., Feb. 6.—Otis Carey, after a quarrel with his wife Nellie, each about forty years old, drew a revolver and shot her twice, inflicting fatal injuries. He then placed the revolver in his mouth and pulled the trigger, death coming almost instantly.
The tragedy was witnessed only by the eleven-year-old son of the couple.

The shooting occurred at the home of a relative in Lawrenceville, Ill., eight miles west of here. The couple had been to a dance, and it is said a quarrel over the actions of Mrs. Carey resulted in the shooting.

Stabbed His Neighbor.

Marion, Ind., Feb. 6.—Hollis Weaver, aged fifty-six, of Sims, Grant county, was stabbed in the abdomen by Joseph Renfrow, aged forty-nine.
Weaver was hurried to the Grant county hospital and it is feared death will result. Renfrow was immediately arrested, brought to this city and placed in jail. The trouble between Weaver and Renfrow is said to have resulted from a remark made by Carroll Weaver, son of Hollis, concerning Renfrow's daughter-in-law.

Several Want the Job.

Indianapolis, Feb. 6.—Fred A. Sims, recently elected chairman of the Republican state central committee, has notified Governor Marshall he will resign as a member of the state board of tax commissioners, the resignation to be effective Feb. 15. Governor Marshall said he had had a number of applicants for the appointment to the tax board, but was not prepared to say who would be appointed.

Finally Accomplished His Design.
Shelbyville, Ind., Feb. 6.—Elda Everroad, aged thirty-six, shot himself in the breast with a revolver, at Hope, and died shortly afterward. He tried twice previously to commit suicide, but no cause for his act is known.

Victim of Continuous Hiccoughs.
Logansport, Ind., Feb. 6.—John Murphy, trustee of El township, has been hiccoughing for eleven days, and physicians seemingly are unable to stop him. The patient is so weak that his death is expected hourly.

Missing Woman Declared Dead.

Delphi, Ind., Feb. 6.—After six years' mysterious disappearance Minerva J.
Cook has been declared legally dead
by the Carroll circuit court.

Weather Man Said he Expected

Zero Weather.

RISE IN TEMPERATURE IS DUE

Thermometers Showed Mercury 8 Degrees Below This Morning—Salvation Army Calls For Help.

Today the weather man assures his constituents that the cold wave really has departed and that a general rise in temperature will be felt, especially in central and eastern Indiana. A day or two of clear skies is promised also. No more zero weather will come for a few days at least, according to the forecast today.

Yesterday afternoon the weather bureau announced that Mr. Cold Wave, after making a brief visit with old friends here Sunday, had left for a visit in the Eastern States. But apparently Mr. Wave in question conveyed a false impression to the weather man because he either remained last night or else left some of his near relatives behind so that his presence could be felt.

The temperature dropped to eight below last night, almost as low as it did Saturday night. This morning at seven o'clock the thermometer registered five below zero and at eight-thirty o'clock it had only risen two degrees.

This was very little warmer than it was Sunday morning, the coldest morning since the extreme cold wave of last month. Sunday morning temperatures as low as fifteen degrees below zero were recorded. And Sunday was a very cold day as the deserted streets testified. The mercury hovered about zero most of the day and made very few attempts to get out of the position.

Most people thought Sunday was colder than any day during the January cold snap. It was the coldest day in February for many years. The temperature began to moderate in the evening and during the night fell below zero. Monday morning four above was the temperature registered.

Yesterday was much more moderate and the prediction was that it would not get colder. Monday the temperature was as high as ten above zero most of the day and lowering temperature did not set in until late in the afternoon.

The Salvation Army has had quite a few calls for assistance since the cold snap set in, according to Captain Cook. He says that provisions or clothes will be acceptable at any time and that Army workers will call for them if the captain is notified by telephone. The number is 31.94.

HE WILL NOT WITHDRAW

Thomas Bottorff to Stick in Race For Nomination.

The impression has gone abroad that Thomas E. Bottorff of Milroy, who announced his candidacy for clerk of the circuit court some time ago, would withdraw from the race. This gained ground when William M. Bosley also of Milroy announced he was a candidate for the same nomination. Mr. Bottorff said today that he had no intention of withdrawing and would give up the fight only after he had won or lost the nomination.
